

At-Risk Students & Course Completion

One of the most important metrics analyzed each term is the course completion outcome, with four areas identified to measure the Save Our Students work initiative:

- Students with course completion and not reported at-risk.
- Students with course completion and reported at-risk.
- Students who did not complete course and were reported at-risk.
- Students who did not complete course and were not reported at-risk.

For FY 2012, 74-77% of students who were reported at-risk by their professors went on to course completion.
